The latest is the monkey corner. When a New York doctor started out the other day to buy a monkey for experimental purposes, he found that the Rockefeller Institute had cornered the visible supply to use in the infantile paralysis research work which that institution has been conducting. The monkey is the best animal, next to a human, for pathological experimentation.

The Missouri College of Agriculture has issued an agricultural map of the state showing the best dates to sow wheat in the various counties not to have the crop destroyed by the Hessian fly. The dates for Bates county are October 9 and 10. The damage caused by the Hessian fly in Missouri in the last three years has been from five to ten million dollars each year and the loss will be greater unless the farmers co-operate and use preventative measures, such as crop rotation, kill all the volunteer wheat on the farm, thus destroying his food supply, and sowing wheat on a fly free date.

We, the undersigned, desire to thank Butler Plainview Lodge No. 80 C. P. A. for their efficient work in capturing the cattle thief that sold us the cattle and attempted to escape with the money. We wish success to the organization.

Palmer and Lawson.

The cost of living, after rising steadily since 1907, except in 1911, took a downward trend during 1915. A report by the bureau of labor analyzing retail prices of twenty-nine articles of food, shows that relative retail prices in 1915 averaged 1 per cent lower than in 1914. Meats, lard and eggs averaged from 1 to 9 per cent lower, while potatoes were 22 per cent lower. Wheat flour, corn meal, and granulated sugar were higher than in 1914.

A large crowd from Butler attended the preaching at the Cove Creek church, in the northeast part of the county, Sunday afternoon. Rev. Talbert, of the Butler Christian church has been holding a meeting there and during the afternoon the rite of baptism was administered to the converts of the meeting. Our good friend J. S. Brown presented The Times force with one of his fine watermelons Wednesday morning. Mr. Brown, besides being a top-notch when it comes to growing watermelons, is a mighty good fellow along with it.

Charley Girard received a bad blow on the head at the swimming pool Sunday afternoon. He had dived and just as he came to the surface "Cotton" Herrell dived from the spring board and his knee struck Girard on the head, cutting his scalp so that a physician had to take several stitches to close the wound.

The fire department was called out about 3:30 Wednesday morning by a fire alarm from the home of Jacob Powell, on Atkeson Avenue, near the lake. It was not known how the fire started. A small kitchen on the north side of the house was entirely destroyed. M. Jay Gordinier, chief of the fire department, caught his foot in a wire fence and badly sprained his ankle.

Some time ago the Missouri Pacific railroad company concluded to discontinue their track scales in Rich Hill. Rich Hill took the matter up with the state public utilities commission who decided that the scales should be maintained. Last week City Attorney Heck received notice of a rehearing of the case before the commission, the railroad having appealed from the former decision.

Palmer and Lawson, the Adrian firm of stock buyers who purchased the cattle stolen last week from J. E. Thompson and J. J. McKee, showed their appreciation of the efficient work of the Butler Plainview Lodge No. 80 C. P. A. in running down the thief and recovering the money paid for the cattle by presenting the lodge with a check for $10. Messrs. Palmer and Lawson also had offered a reward of $200 for the capture of the thief.

"The Huntress of Men" is the title of the latest Red Feather feature. It is the story of a man who returns from a hunting trip to Africa and hears a story at the club of a beautiful woman, who is called the Huntress of Men. He thinks it would be fine sport to tame her as he had tamed wild animals in Africa. He meets her but the taming does not turn out just as he had planned it. Go to the Electric Theatre Monday afternoon and night and see what happened. Mary Fuller plays the leading part.

Swimming Pool Opened.

At 7:30 Friday evening Butler's new swimming pool was opened to the public, and from that time on till the closing time the pool was filled with a splashing, laughing happy crowd of youngsters, and some that were not youngsters. The receipts for the opening night were nearly $20 and as the pool has been well patronized every evening since, it bids fair to be a big success.

It Rained.

After a drouth of nearly fifty days this vicinity was visited by a most welcome rain Tuesday morning and from all reports it was pretty general over the county. While it was too late to be of much benefit to the corn it will be a big help for fall pastures.

WILLIAM B. WELCH BADLY INJURED

Prominent Summit Township Farmer Gets Arm Caught in Silo Blower.

Thursday afternoon of last week William B. Welch, of Summit township, while helping his neighbor, Grover Gilbert, fill his silo had his right arm and shoulder badly bruised by being caught in the blower of the ensilage cutter.

Mr. Welch had his arm in the blower, which was stopped, cleaning out some refuse and the engine, thinking that he had finished, started the engine. The blades of the big blower which makes about 1200 revolutions per minute, caught his arm and pounded it into an unrecognizable mass. The shoulder was dislocated and all the ligaments were torn loose and the arm badly lacerated.

He was placed in an automobile and rushed to town where Drs. Christy and Chastain dressed the arm and shoulder and later in the evening he was taken to his home. So badly was he mashed and bruised that before the doctors could be reached the arm was swelled several times its natural size. Dr. Christy informs us that barring complications, Mr. Welch will recover the use of his arm, but that it was a close call. Mr. Welch was recently candidate for the democratic nomination for county treasurer and his many friends will regret to learn of his serious accident and hope for his speedy recovery.

To Make Apple Jelly "Jell."

It is just about as easy to make jelly from apples, quinces, peaches, or pears as from any other kind of fruit, if you know how, according to Miss Addie D. Root of the Missouri College of Agriculture. All that is necessary is to add enough tartaric or citric acid to the juice to make it taste about as sour as a good sour apple. This usually means about a level teaspoonful to a quart of juice. It destroys the delicate flavor of peach and pear juice somewhat but improves the flavor of sweet apple and quince juice.

Blackberries, blueberries, raspberries, partially ripe grapes, crab apples, sour apples, and plums usually make good jelly because they have enough acid already and also contain a substance called pectin which must be present and must be brought out with the juice by heating if jelly is to be made. That is why jelly-makers do not simply press out the juice from cold fruit. All apples and similar fruits have enough pectin for jelly-making purposes.

In making apple jelly, cover the fruit with water before cooking and boil twenty or thirty minutes. After boiling has continued ten or fifteen minutes, add about three-quarters of a cup of sugar for every cup of juice. The sugar that will be required should have been measured into a pan and warmed in the oven for a while before it is added. It should be carefully stirred in to prevent burning.

As soon as the glasses are filled with the hot jelly they should be set in a cool place where jelling takes place. They should be sealed from the air but if the jelly has been slightly overcooked, it may be covered with panes of glass and allowed to harden in the sun. When it is well-set pour hot paraffin over the top and put clean tin covers on the glasses. Store them away in a dry, cool place where the jelly cannot mold.

Morris Brown, 8 years old, was killed at Stanberry, Monday when his horse plunged from a footbridge. The horse's hoofs crushed his skull. The boy had attempted to ride across the bridge on a dare.
